Taste of DC with Suzzs Travels

The goal of my time in Washington, DC was to see the essentials and dine at several restaurants. I took the morning to see the National Mall and then bar hopped from place to place between lunch and dinner. Follow along in my day in Washington, DC.
Day 1

8:00 AM  Metro to Union Station
8:30 AM  Supreme Court Of The United States - Supreme Court Of The United States
9:30 AM  Capitol Reflecting Pool - Capitol Reflecting Pool
          Washington Monument - Washington Monument
10:30 AM  White House - President Inn
11:00 AM  World War II Memorial - World War II Memorial
11:30 AM  Martin Luther King, Jr Memorial - Martin Luther King, Jr Memorial 12:00 PM  Vietnam Veterans Memorial - Vietnam Veterans Memorial
12:30 PM  Reflecting Pool - Reflecting Pool
1:00 PM  Lincoln Memorial And Reflecting Pool - Lincoln Memorial And Reflecting Pool
1:30 PM  Transit to Dupont Circle from National Mall
2:00 PM  Tapas at Boqueria
3:00 PM  Walked P Street to Logan Circle Area
4:30 PM  The Pig - The Pig
5:30 PM  Barcelona Wine Bar & Restaurant - Barcelona Wine Bar & Restaurant
6:30 PM  Churchkey - Churchkey
7:30 PM  Dinner at El Sol Restaurante
Metro to Union Station
My ambition for the morning was to see the National Mall. I didn't necessarily want to spend too much time at each memorial. I wanted to snap a picture and keep on moving. I decided to start by taking the Metro to Union Station and then walking from the Supreme Court to the Lincoln Memorial.

Supreme Court Of The United States
Supreme Court Of The United States
1 1st St, Washington, DC, US, 20543
(202) 479-3000

Capitol Reflecting Pool
Capitol Reflecting Pool
Pennsylvania Ave NW & Maryland Ave SW, Washington, DC, US, 20024
(202) 426-6842
Washington Monument
BOOKED THROUGH
10:00 am

White House

World War II Memorial

Martin Luther King, Jr Memorial

Vietnam Veterans Memorial

Reflecting Pool
Transit to Dupont Circle from National Mall
It is about a 35 minute walk to Dupont Circle from the National Mall. At this point I was pretty hungry and tired of walking around. You can rent a bike and get there in about 20 minutes with the logistics of the bike rental. I decided to catch a cab instead.

Tapas at Boqueria
Inspired by the energy of the tapas bars and “Cervezerías” that surround Barcelona’s renowned food market “El Mercado de la Boqueria”, Boqueria serves market driven authentic Spanish cuisine in an atmosphere that sparks connections with people, food and wine.

Walked P Street to Logan Circle Area
After lunch I wanted to see DC's urban residential neighborhoods. So I casually walked away from Dupont Circle toward Logan Circle. At this point it was time to grab a few drinks. There is a lot to choose from at Logan Circle.
4:30 PM
Eastern Standard Time

The Pig
1320 14th St NW, Washington, DC, US, 20005
(202) 290-2821

5:30 PM
Eastern Standard Time

Barcelona Wine Bar & Restaurant
1622 14th St NW, Washington, DC, US, 20009

6:30 PM
Eastern Standard Time

Churchkey
1337 14th St NW, Washington, DC, US, 20005
(202) 567-2576
Dinner at El Sol Restaurante
Opened in 2014, El Sol Restaurante & Tequileria in Washington, DC serves authentic Mexican cuisine inspired by the heritage of chef Alfredo Solis and his sister, Jessica. Born and raised in Mexico City, the duo moved to DC where they cut their teeth working in some of the city's finest restaurants -- advancing from dishwasher to executive chef positions. With over a decade of culinary experience under their belts, they struck out on their own to open El Sol, which shares the culture and cuisine of their homeland. The menu is driven by the foods they grew up with, from street food staples like Huaraches (flatbreads stuffed with cactus, fresh cheeses and meats) to Tortas and Tacos. El Sol makes almost everything in-house and sources the very best products, whether it's daily fresh bread or weekly shipments of mole straight from the Solis' madre in Mexico. Since opening, it has been hailed by The Washington Post, Washingtonian, Zagat and more.